Toothbrush Voted Top Invention

They need their toothbrushes. That's what people told MIT-Lemelson researchers who asked them what invention they could not live without.

It appears that the 15th century Chinese invention beat out all sorts of technology including cars, computers, cell phones, and microwave ovens. The toothbrush was chosen as most important to them by 42 percent of respondents. The PC got only six percent, and the cellular phone was named best by only two percent of adults and kids.

Study leaders concluded that simple things in life really do count, things like cleanliness, the clothes we wear, our homes, and our families.

Hitting the Road with Rover

Veterinarians at Michigan State University say these tips will help you and your pet have a more enjoyable car trip.

- Have restraints. Smaller pets can travel in a plastic carrier. Strap it to the seat. Most pet stores have harnesses or restrain straps that attach to the car's seat belt. Buckle them up in the back seat.

- Avoid car sickness. Take your pet on several short trips so he gets used to the car and harness. If he still gets car sick, try Dramamine, 25 to 50 mg hourly for medium to large dogs, and 12.5 mg for small dogs and cats. Give a light meal three hours before leaving.

- Help them relax. Bring a favorite toy and play soothing music. Take a break outdoors every couple of hours.
